

Dear Diary,
It is here that Glen Nor's chronicle of the year 1944-45 begins. Your pages contain the stories of the events which every student has had some part in making possible. You are a memory book to all Glen Norites, but especially to the Seniors.
This year is a climax in their school careers, for who knows where they will find themselves even one year hence?
Whether it be homeroom or hockey, faculty or football,
we will record it all here.

Who will not thrill to the Thanksgiving Day football picture, or smile at the Tramp Day snapshot?

And so, with the hope that your pages' messages,
whether told by pictures, or by words will make the reader's acquaintance with Glen Nor more interesting and more vivid, the Annual Staff presents

ANNUAL

*Published by the Students of the
Glen-Nor High School*

Glenolden, Pennsylvania

In Appreciation . . .

of her services to Glen-Nor . . .

WE OF the Annual Staff have dedicated our memory book to Mrs. Hutchins. Her friendly smile and gracious manner have endeared her to everyone as a real friend. She is outstanding not only for her keen interest in everything which goes on at Glen-Nor, but also as a capable teacher who has aided many a pupil to develop fully the reasoning faculties required for mathematics. Whether the "unsolvable" problem be in algebra, geometry, or trig, many a student's bewilderment has disappeared under her clear and understanding explanations. After classes, she manages the twin tasks of directing the mathematics department and the activities of the Class of 1946 with an efficiency which speaks for itself.

With all her Glen-Nor jobs, dear Diary, Mrs. Hutchins has still found time to study in the evenings at Temple University for a master's degree.

It is a pleasure to give the place of honor in our diary to one who has done more than her bit in training Glen-Norites to be good citizens.

L. Mrs. Hutchins at the age of seventeen months.

GERTRUDE E. HUTCHINS

Here are the executives . . .

J. Lewis Rickter, Otto E. Sandberger, Mrs. Helen Thomas, Weston C. Overholt—Secretary; Arthur L. Reeser—Attorney; W. H. Caley—President; W. W. Rust—Vice President; J. Stuart Hebden—Treasurer; Mrs. M. C. Kiehl, W. A. Love, Howard Hill.

The Board of Education

THANKS should be given to the energetic body of men and women who comprise our Glen-Nor school board. Constantly on the lookout for ways in which to make our life at Glen-Nor a happy one, the board has succeeded in its initial purpose.

Upon arriving at school on the first day and seeing the flashing new football uniforms and the renovation of the cafeteria, we all felt a new pride in our Alma Mater. With due respect and deep gratitude we acknowledge their thoughtfulness.

Our Principals

RUSSELL E. BAMBERGER
Assistant Principal

J. MILTON ROSSING
Supervising Principal

IT SEEMS to us that the office is a small room indeed to house the torrent of activities which pour through it. From the unsung summer tasks of filling the faculty and planning the schedule, through the midyear problems of adjustment and maintenance, all the way to the final questions of recommending Seniors for college and commencement, the principal's work is never done.

Last January Mr. Rossing became ill, and Mr. Bamberger stepped in to act as supervising principal during the former's absence. The test of an executive is the ability to select and train capable assistants to carry on and substitute, if necessary, without any slackening of interest and activity.

For the completion of the many details necessary to keep a school running smoothly we pause to pay tribute to our principals.

Dear Diary,

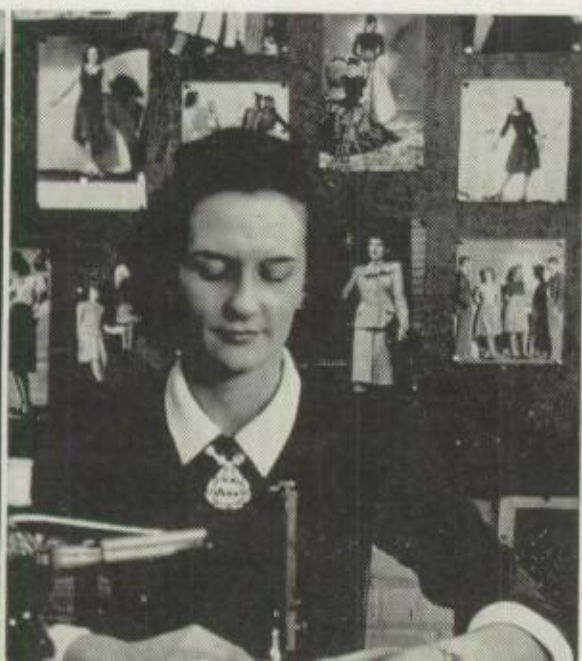

We will remember our faculty as those persons, who with wide and varied interests, have helped us prepare to take our place in life, and who have shown us how to smooth out the rough spots along the way. Perhaps first to attract our attention in the fall were Mrs. Wright and Mr. Thompson, who organized Glen-Nor's fighting teams with their following of Squaws and Braves. Throughout the football season Mr. Neal, with his trumpet, and Mrs. Goerder with her original cheers aided band and cheerleaders in giving the Indian cheering section color and unity. Early in the school year Miss Kelley and Miss Jones supervised, respectively, the organizing of the Annual staff and the Student Council. Meeting the demand of the students' call for youth organizations, Miss Keffer, Miss Kocher, and Mrs. Hess helped the girls organize the Girl Reserves. At the same time, Mr. Fricker, dreaming of the coming baseball season, started the ball rolling in Hi-Y. Not to be forgotten is the successful production of "Almost Summer" given in November under the able direction of Miss Harrison and Mrs. Bass. Taking a short vacation Mr. Geno, Mr. Landis and Mr. Knoll set out on their annual deer hunt, but returned empty handed. Throughout the year Miss Hull has been irelessly urging us to buy more defense stamps. Every afternoon we have found Mrs. Graef in her office ready to help students with their problems, while Mrs. de Berardinis, in the library, has been ever ready to select the right book. Mrs. Baird, our school nurse, has kept careful check on diseases and injuries; in charge of Glen-Nor's absenteeism, Mrs. Sherer has made careful records. In making our way to the office our hearts have been lifted when greeted by a cheery smile from Miss Knox. Junior high students will remember Miss Seitz as the one to whom credit must go for successful assembly programs, and commercial students will remember Mrs. Renninger as a popular teacher. Then too, our dedicatee will remain fixed in our minds as the person who always has the right answer. Many a dull class period has been brightened by Mr. Schmidt, gentleman farmer, with his timely poems. In January our art teacher, Miss Biester, proved her versatility by taking charge of our physics classes. Accordion playing Miss Magee strives to improve the three "R's" in junior high. Mrs. Egan and Mrs. Haddaway, newcomers to Glen-Nor in the middle of the year, already have made a place for themselves in our midst. Miss Hassler and Mr. Bamberger, each a veteran in service at Glen-Nor, are held in highest esteem by the students.

"Time Waits

RUTH E. ANDERSON

Ruthie shot her star up into the blue with her sensational flashes down the hockey field as left wing. Those tricks saved many a game. As a Student Council Member she displayed her executive abilities, always smiling.

BRIAN E. BAMFORTH

Hail the Annual Editor-in-Chief, who is also Vice-President of Hi-Y, Sergeant-at-Arms of Student Council, and National Honor Society President. In his spare time Brian concentrates on those 10-pins at the end of his favorite alley.

EDWIN R. BATES

The important job of football manager is devotedly filled by Ed. When basketball season rolls around, he steps from the sidelines to join the team and proceeds to play rings around his opponents. Take a look at some of his classic art works!

RAYMOND BEWLEY

Ray hails from the Manor Plaza, a fact which automatically makes him a dyed-in-the-wool sportsman. Rumor has it that this handsome fellow is a saxophonist par excellence, but here the most that Ray volunteers is a sly smile.

For No One"

FLORENCE BALENTINE

Flossie looks upon an admiring world from under a cute bunch of bangs. She's quite a working gal, having spent two summers at Cape May earning her livelihood. She and her camera spend many happy hours together with surprising results.

CLARENCE S. BARTON

By keeping wandering students in order near Room 10, "Nick" ably fulfills his monitorial duties. P.O.D. problems present no difficulties for this fiery debater. A pride and joy of his life is that carefully nurtured wave which graces his forehead.

THELMA R. BEELER

Thelma will always get along. Her infectious giggle and almost perpetual grin are ample testimony to that fact. She's prettily practical, too, for during those lazy summer months when most of us lounge, Thelma is a busy working gal.

MARYJANE BLIZZARD

As Senior Candy Chairman "Bliz" is an ardent worker in keeping senior finances out of the red. Unusual speed is her trademark in both basketball and hockey. Her smart clothes bear proof of Maryjane's skill with needle and thread.

ELIZABETH BOERNER

A portrait of Lizzie has the same effect on the beholder as the Mona Lisa. Quiet and calm in school, she lets off pent-up energy on the nearest skating rink or the hockey field. Here she displays surprising speed.

CAROLYN BOUSUM

Carol's rhythmical ability finds ample scope as pianist for Glen-Nor. Arranging her blonde locks into an upsweep, Miss Personality Plus became "Mom" in the senior play. Carol leads both cheers and subscription campaigns with equal efficiency.

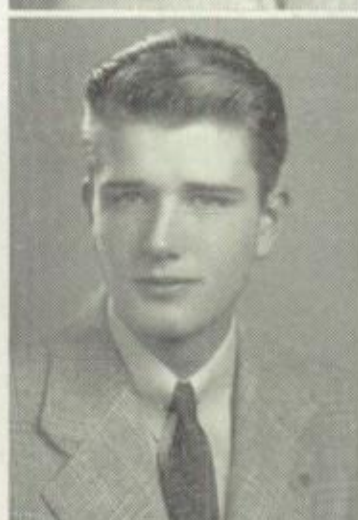

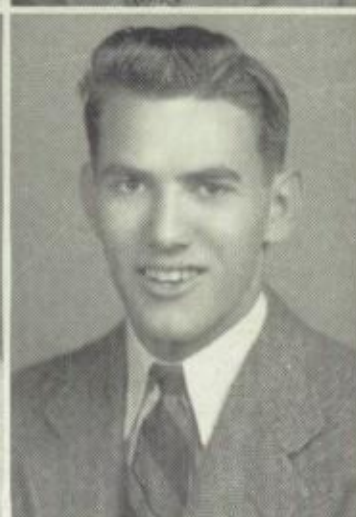

CHARLES E. BOYER

"Tall, tan, and terrific" is Charlie in a nutshell. It must be true of all "Charles Boyers." Charlie takes life and its many problems as they come. Nothing ruffles him—not even being one of the few boys in a class of femmes.

GLORIA BRIMMEIER

Gloria is one of the few persons who truly sparkles and bubbles over with enthusiasm. This husky-voiced songstress from Folcroft is equally arresting whether portraying a grouchy principal in the senior play or vocalizing in assembly.

"Two Little

DONALD F. BOORSE

We just can't throw too many bouquets Don's way, for as President of the senior class, spark plug of the football team, and genuine, all-around swell fellow Don deserves his laurels. To him goes our blue-ribbon of the year.

MARVIN E. BOWERS

"Booby" certainly doesn't deserve his nickname . . . Membership on the Hi-Y for two years and varsity football are tributes to his ability. In the seclusion of his home he dotes on model building and his drawings are a thing to behold.

MURIEL R. BRIGHAM

When not typing for the Annual or tripping the latest dance step, Muriel busies herself discussing daily doings with her pals. Silky black hair and big brown eyes give her a languid look—befitting a lovely daydreamer.

DOROTHY JEAN BROCK

"Buttercup" is best known for her "E's," but her friends know she deserves this mark for other virtues. The National Honor Society found a place for Jean, as did the senior play. A sweet nature and a fine character will take her a long way.

Indian Boys"

"45 Minutes

JUNE CHUBB

June looks like her namesake in any season with her sunny smile and equally sunny costumes. Mothering the hockey squaws as manager keeps her occupied during the fall but she's never too busy to tickle the ivories in a most pleasing manner.

ALBERT COUTANT

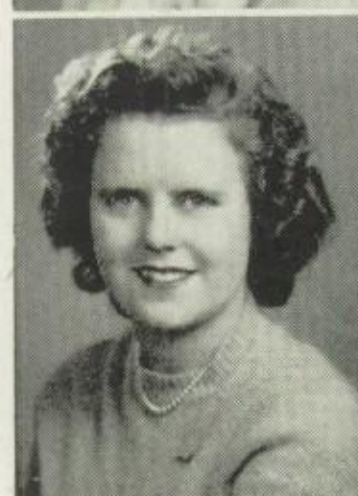

A sincere lover of the outdoors—when fall rolls around, Al happily dons high-top boots and flannel shirt and, with shotgun in hand, proceeds to go a-hunting. His stonelike silence, so necessary in stalking game, stays with him in English.

JANE E. CRAWFORD

Janie keeps any gathering she attends alert, for her spontaneous wit is fabulous. A "regular" on the Girl Reserve roster, she rarely misses a meeting. As "Jane" in the senior play, she displayed hitherto latent talent as a dramatic heroine.

CATHARINE DONNELLY

Really taking to heart the plea for more mail, Kay spends much of her time writing letters to her many friends and brothers in the service. Anybody wanting to taste some real culinary delights should go post-haste to the Donnelly kitchen.

From Broadway"

ALDA LOUISE CLARK

Gay as a blackbird, Alda greets the day with a smile. Her good humor never deserts her, even when as Annual Business Manager she must balance the checkbook. Alda spends Friday nights enjoying her favorite pastime, dancing.

HARRY LAWRENCE COX

Harry and his "licorice stick" have graced the musical organizations for five years. Next to his orchestral efforts, basketball games claim much of his attention. Those natty tweeds and wavy hair are real "Casanova" indications.

WILLIAM B. DAWSON

As a loyal Llanwellynite, Bill champions that thoroughfare in the wars with Scott Avenue's supporters. Two years' labor at Sun Ship has taught this lanky fellow the fine points of ducking. His first love is basketball.

BARBARA ANN DUBOIS

Whether adding up the Annual finances or solving a tough problem in "Solid," Barby always keeps her figures straight. In her spare time this lively lady turns out tricky knitting which brings sighs of delight from her friends.

VILMA D. DUVAK

The skating rink or the theater intrigues Vilma during off-school hours. Within Glen-Nor's portals she labors over the intricacies of book-keeping, but never too much to have a rousing good time with her bevy of friends.

NORA ELY

The long trek from Folcroft doesn't dampen Nora's spirits. This exuberant Senior is a true live wire among her friends. To forget the toils of the classroom she heads for the nearest skating rink, where she stops many an admiring eye.

DORIS ANN FISHER

The lady with the starry blue eyes smiles for you here. Those snazzy outfits she sports are the results of hours spent with the needle—and they deserve hearty praise. A commercial student, she'll grace some private office some day.

MURRAY FORBES

Murray's devotion to the boys' gym locker is evident any season of the year as he dons football regalia to play or dishes out basketball suits as manager. In school, he livens P.O.D. classes by debating on every possible subject.

"Y' Gotta Be A

FRANK EITEL

A long, lean, blond, Frank has a genius for getting a seat in the back of the room. Although seemingly shy, he discards this disguise whenever popular music is in the air. A car of his own is Frank's dream.

EDWIN PARRY FABER

"Hykie" is a "Spic and Span" charter member; you can find him there whenever his car can be persuaded to cough out a five or ten minute ride. Homework is one thing which has never worried this perpetual prankster.

PATRICIA M. FOLEY

Pat's words are few but they are well worth heeding. Her perfect work in Solid Geometry brings sighs of envy from her less-gifted classmates. Pat, of the satiny complexion, also lends her mathematical prowess to the Annual.

WILLIAM J. GRAHAM

Gliding across the floor at the Friday night dances or breaking eggs over the craniums of newly initiated Hi-Y members, Bill always maintains his friendly personality. Annual sport writeups are no obstacle to this schoolboy Bill Stern.

Football Hero"

"I Got Plenty

MARY ANNETTA GRANT

Another skating enthusiast—Mary still has sufficient energy to heave a bowling ball. She is a faithful attendant at those early morning Glee Club sessions, but we admire her most for her carefree air and happy-as-a-lark disposition.

DORIS ANN GREER

The Annual Staff has a faithful member in Doris Ann as its "photo" manager. In her senior year Doris added the Student Council to her list of activities. An accomplished pianist, she makes music her hobby.

JEAN FLORENCE HALL

Sharon Hill's loss was Glen-Nor's gain when, in the senior year, Jean joined the class of '45. Fond of dancing and bowling, this soft-spoken miss is especially proficient at coaxing sweet music from her accordion.

ELVA ROSE HARMSSEN

Elva is just as sparkling as she looks. This is evident as she vigorously swings into a rousing cheer, tackles a hockey left-inner, or hits high "C" with equal gusto. Those flashing green eyes fit right in with a very pleasing picture.

Of Nothin' "

PAUL EDGAR GREEN

Versatile is the word for Paul, who chalks "E's" on his reports, pours liquid tones from his trumpet, and turns in Academy Award performances as "Pop" in the senior play with equal ease. Green's home chem' lab affords off-hour entertainment.

GEORGE GRUBB

George believes that life should not be taken too seriously, and his actions usually prove his point. Skyscraper stature makes him a natural for basketball, and the rebounds usually go to the Maroon and Gold when he enters the fray.

KENNETH H. HALL

Hurtling merrily along the Twin Boroughs' roads in Gas-sell's delivery truck, Ken belies his quiet manner at school. This newcomer derives one of his greatest pleasures in regularly attending the dances held by his old "Alma Mater," Sharon Hill.

RUTH VERA HAWLEY

That streak that just went by was Ruth playing left half-back on the varsity hockey team. She "goes" for sports in a big way, performing in basketball, volleyball, and baseball games. "Cute" describes this little bundle to a "T."

ROBERT G. HEACOCK

A distinct popularity with the ladies is probably directly traceable to "Straw's" grin. His guise of shyness is quickly dropped between classes. Maybe he gets those rosy cheeks from the long hike to and fro.

WILLIAM C. HIDDEMEN

Bill is better known as the "flash" of the baseball diamond, gridiron, or track. Shortly he'll forsake his fleeting feet for fleeting wings as he heeds the call to arms. We'll remember him for curly blond hair and a talent for math.

JEANNE M. HOGUET

Our strawberry blonde came through with a truly natural performance as "Mary" in "Almost Summer." Her service as Intramural Manager and in scoring goals for the basketball team have made her well-known at Glen-Nor.

KENNETH S. KAYE

In spite of a broken leg in his junior year, Kenny has become one of our best varsity football players. His capacity for making witty remarks, while maintaining the sobriety of a judge, has enlivened many a dull hour.

"Cuddle Up A

MILDRED HEBDEN

Millie's real need is a 36-hour day. Hockey, basketball, cheer-leading, Girl Reserves, Annual, and a senior class officer leave her few spare moments. A thoroughbred through and through, she was a "natural" for the National Honor Society.

FAY E. HORNER

Fay is charm personified. This versatile miss lent her talents to such varied tasks as drum majorette, A. A. treasurer, hockey fullback, and Senior Co-editor. Election to the National Honor Society is a fitting tribute to a gracious lady.

MILDRED E. JONES

Mildred is quiet as the proverbial mouse in class, but really a live wire after school. A salesgirl at Nevins, she still finds time to get her book-keeping homework done and learn the latest skating tricks.

EDWARD JAMES KELSO

Eddie's amazing courtesy even while skirting the gridiron or basketball floor endears him to all. His leadership is displayed as he conducts A. A. meetings or presides "pro-tem" at class meetings. His effect on the girls parallels Sinatra's.

Little Closer"

"Stormy"

MARTHA LOUISE KERR

We've never met anyone quite like Marty. A human dynamo, we never know when she will come forth with a rare quip or hilarious burlesque. She expends extra energy playing hockey and basketball, planning Girl Reserve programs, and cheerleading.

PAUL E. KINGSLEY

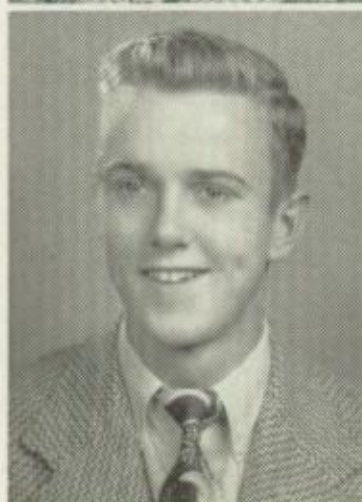

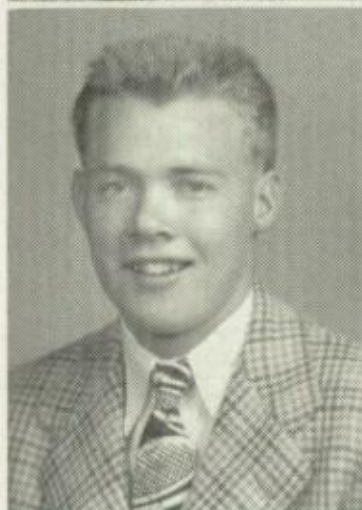

A man of many moods and interests, "Spike" is never as happy as when he is taking unorthodox one-handed shots at Scott Square Gardens. He assists (?) Bill Miller with his alchemistic mysteries between frequent trips to the movies.

KARL M. KRAMER

This boy amazes us with his outstanding ability on the basketball floor. We just can't get used to such genius. We still think this sport is the only reason "Pete" came to school, for during school hours he'd much rather take a snooze.

ROBERT PORTER LONG

Last year's classification of Bob as "Astaire II" really fits this smooth dancer. Further proof of his rhythm is found in his berth on the basketball team. A stock of good humor and cheerfulness has won him a host of friends.

"Weather"

BRUCE KIBBLER

Bruce vies for the title of being Glen-Nor's all-time track star when it comes to being first in line for chocolate milk at lunchtime. Library newspapers supply this eager reader with abundant current events material for P.O.D. classes.

VIRGINIA KIRKPATRICK

"Kirkie" is one of the most steadfast supporters of Glen-Nor. She's as regular at the games as the players themselves and "plays" as hard. Hockey and basketball custodian, she has a difficult job, but performs her duties like a veteran.

JO ANN L. LAWHEAD

Jo Ann brightens her surroundings with a dazzling smile. For two years she played hockey, then forsook the team this year to trill for the Glee Club. Behind the scenes she concentrates on producing golden tones from her piano.

LOUISE LONGBOTTOM

Louise is blessed with naturally curly hair and lovely dark eyes which undoubtedly will carry her far. Almost a standing member of the Student Council, she has graced its sacred annals for most of her stay at Glen-Nor.

HELEN JEAN LOUX

"Lou" is as streamlined as a P-38 and just as lively. She upholds the fame of Glen-Nor's teams by scoring her own goals in hockey or preventing opponents' goals in basketball. As cheerleading captain she led cheers, and eyes away from the games.

JOHN J. MacVEIGH

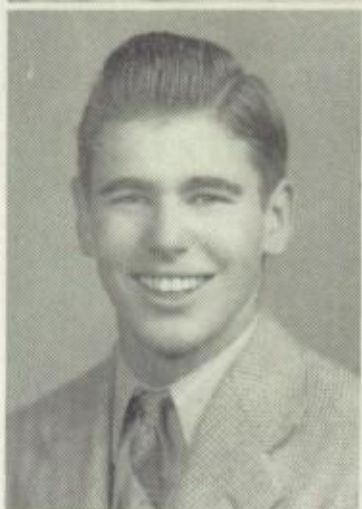

Here, ladies and gentlemen, is the Adonis of the senior class. A born athlete, "Buggy" found time to captain the football team and play a bang-up game of basketball and baseball. Little wonder he rates A-1 with all who know him.

JOAN C. MARTIN

Hockey Captain, Girl Reserve President, Senior Class Treasurer, Cheerleader, and basket tosser are synonyms for Joan. Her activities and swell personality netted her a spot in the National Honor Society as well as the hearts of senior classmen.

ROBERT L. McCOMBIE

Glen-Nor was treated to a view of hidden histrionic powers when Bob emerged as "Paul" in the senior play. This tall young man with the carrot-top and upstate twang spends his off-moments making airplanes.

GERTRUDE A. LUTHER

Gertrude hasn't been here very long but long enough to let us know how sweet she is. That creamy complexion and her twinkling eyes are evident to all who behold one of the Glee Club's staunchest members. Music is her greatest interest.

VIRGINIA MARSHALL

There is never a dull moment with Ginny around. Her speed and spectacular interceptions have prevented many a goal in basketball. The dances are few and far between when this sparkling miss isn't gliding across the floor.

ELEANOR McCLOSKEY

Only technicolor could do full justice to the titian hue of this colleen's crowning glory, curled by Mother Nature. This future secretary stops all glances as she glides across the dance floor or skating rink with equal grace.

HELEN L. MCGOVERN

Sports play an important role in this lassie's life. If not playing, skating, or swimming she can be found rooting for the home team or managing the girls' basketball team. Township fascinates her. We wonder why.

"Who Dat

Up There?"

"Ain't

ELIZABETH McKENNA

Glen-Nor must have magnetic power over Betty, for she rarely leaves before five. Traffic moves smoothly by Room 22 with one of our best dressed Seniors to direct it. A star supporter at Glen-Nor games, Betty is noted for her dependability.

DOROTHY MELLEN

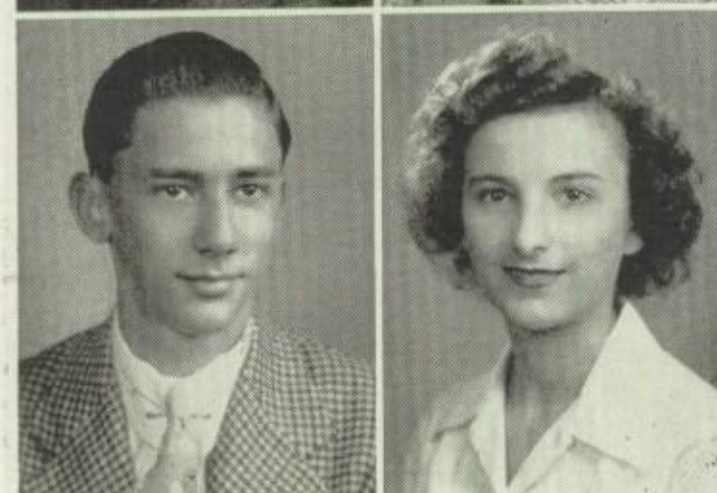

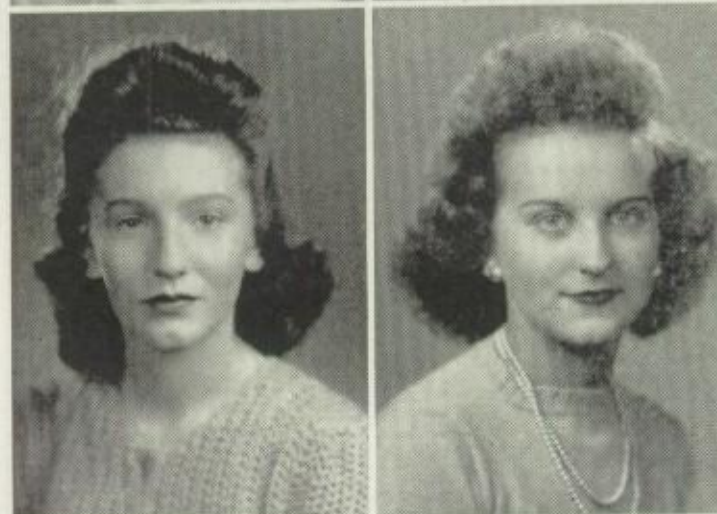

Dot is one of our senior "working girls." On Saturdays she busies herself selecting the proper feminine accessories for the customers of "Kay's." Her personality is as flaming as her hair.

HARRY MITCHELL

Rumor has it that Zelinski's Sweet Shoppe has reserved a suite there for "Mitch"! In any event, it is there that his famous "half-speed chuckle" recovers from classroom rigors. He has a serious side . . . witness those consistent good grades.

CHARLES L. MOSER

Look behind that huge stack of ice cream bricks in the cafeteria, and you'll find this hard-working cobbler. Charlie also answers the fire bell at Norwood. However, he performs his most astonishing feats on any and all gymnastic equipment.

Misbehavin'."

MARY G. MEANEY

Mary is a living example of the "sugar 'n' spice 'n' everything nice" that girls are made of. A gay giggle catches the proverbial second glance. In school Mary arranges the Annual's snapshots and toots a trombone for Mr. O'Neal.

ARLETTIA R. MINKE

This little lady can be found any evening passing out movie tickets at the Parker theater. Nevertheless, she finds time to amass a fabulous collection of high school pennants. Summer finds Arlettia bound for her annual stay at the shore.

WILLIAM MILLER

Want to know who made how many points in what game? Then just ask Bill, the statistical expert of all Glen-Nor sports activities. When not attending athletic contests, chess and mathematics satisfy this wizard's lust for puzzle solving.

ALBERTA ANN NATALE

The tiniest Senior is Alberta. They say, though, that the nicest things come in the smallest packages and that's certainly true in this case. Alberta succeeds at anything she tries; ample evidence is her work on the Student Council and Annual.

ALBERT O. NELSON

As soon as the three o'clock bell rings Al is off to don green coveralls as a service man at the Texaco Gas Station. He usually manages to get off Friday evenings to escort the current heartbeat to the Glen-Nor dances.

JOHN E. NITTINGER

This youthful Sir Walter Raleigh can usually be found asking someone to please "smile for the birdie." When not posing Glen-Norites for Annual pictures he is having the time of his life at Hi-Y meetings.

ERNEST A. PIETSCH

Since the senior play Ernie is renowned throughout the school as that mischievous younger brother, "Junior." When not busy keeping his classmates in a continuous state of hilarity Ernie may be found snapping pictures in behalf of the Annual.

E. CELESTE ROBINSON

This lil' South'n belle is an importation from Maryland. Her assortment of hairdos, chatty drawl and witty outbursts made her a noted figure among the Seniors. We'll bet many people will benefit if she follows her chosen profession, nursing.

"Gals Don't

ALICE D. NILSON

Alice's outstanding service in behalf of war bonds and other campaigns will be sorely missed in ensuing years. Her literary ability has been utilized as Associate Editor of the Annual and in composing tricky jingles for our daily Bulletin.

ANNA J. OAKES

The high-stepping twirler before the Band is Annie, and a big reason why that band won so much favor this year. Pretty as a picture, Annie does clever Art work for the Annual, which proves her artistic sense. In the fall, she assists the Hockey gals.

ROBERT R. REX

Glen-Nor's authority on automobiles spends most of his spare time tinkering with his beloved, but aged, car. Answering the clang of Norwood's fire bell gives him plenty of exercise. As a C.A.P. alumnus, Bob really knows his military marching.

CATHERINE T. SCHLESSELMAN

A love of dancing and skating, coupled with a quiet manner and sunny disposition, characterize this brown haired Senior. If you want the latest movie news Cass is the person to see.

Mean A Thing"

"Happy Go

IVAN SMITH

Although skeptics declare that it is impossible to get as many people into a car as Ivan does and still have it run, he manages with ease. His first love is really radio, where he performs baffling repair jobs.

DOROTHY ELLA STABB

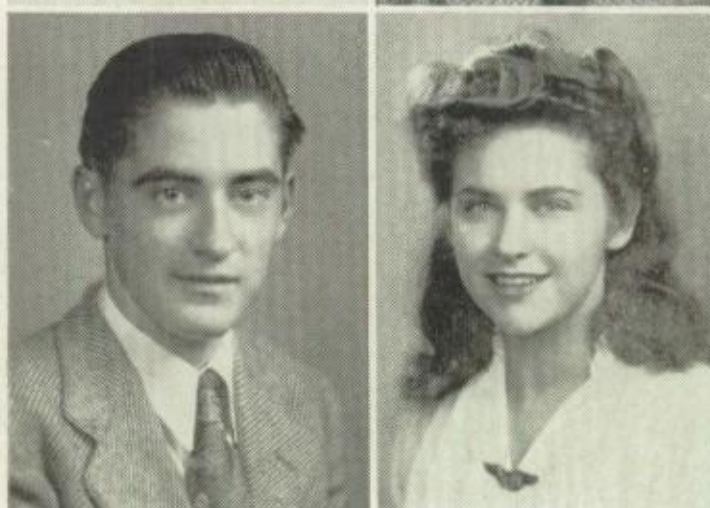

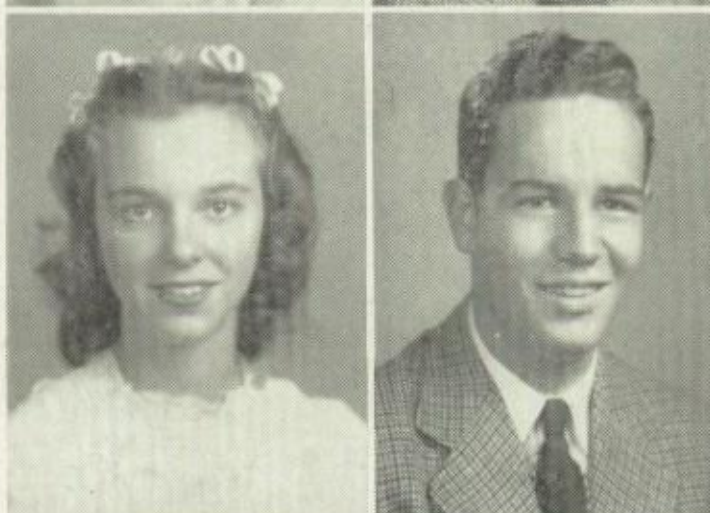

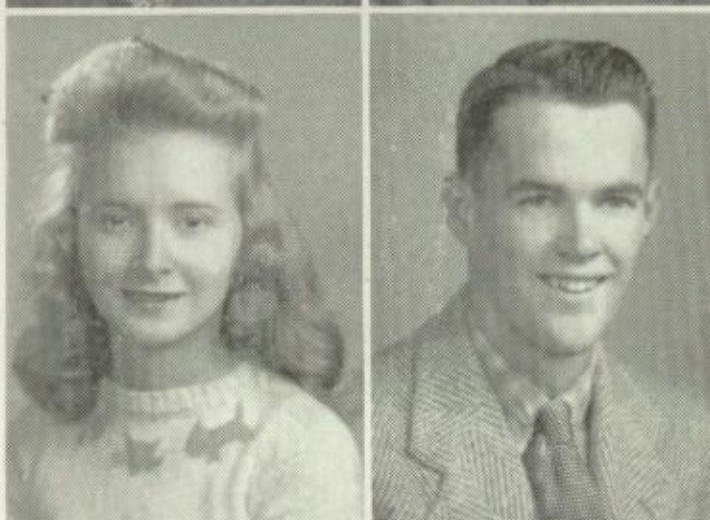

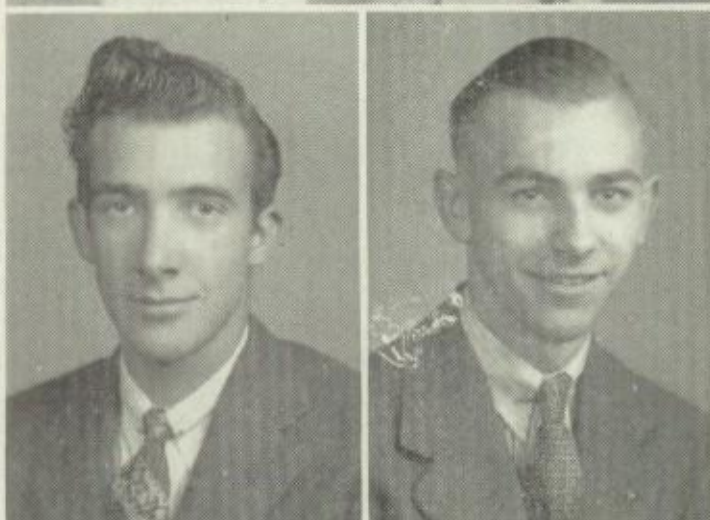

If you see a flowing mane of heavenly reddish blonde hair the envy of all females—Dot is sure to be the lucky owner. That smart apparel she sports is mostly created by her own hand—a miraculous feat.

ELAINE SULTZBACH

One of the brightest smiles in the Senior Class can be traced to Miss Elaine. Those teeth are the envy of all girls, as are the melodious bits of laughter which always ripple around her. Hers is one of the nightingale voices of the Glee Club.

WILLIAM VOEHRINGER

Displaying an unsuspected talent, "Buzz" has been unraveling traffic knots in the hall with the right combination of firmness and finesse. Casting aside his badge, this Don Juan hasn't missed a Friday night dance this year.

Lucky"

CLIFFORD SPARKS

An award of merit for keeping Recording and Visual Ed. equipment in good order should go to this hard working yet unsung Senior. Always genial and smiling, he not only is a conscientious scholar, but also manages the Hi-Y finances.

JOSEPH C. STARR

Joe is best noted for his admirable grin, easy going disposition, and especially for his prowess on the basketball floor. Here his name applies directly. At social scenes he prefers to watch, but the local lassies are maneuvering a change.

ROBERT L. TIMMONS

Bob is one healthy-looking individual. Those sly remarks, bane of a teacher's life, have undoubtedly grown and prospered every afternoon at Manor Plaza, where his curly head bobs up and down through many hectic court contests.

BETTY VOLLMER

Wings on her blouse truly indicate where Betty's thoughts lie. A fan of Woody Herman, the size of her record collection is staggering. An ever-ready smile and quiet manner will always gain popularity for "Bomber."

HELEN EDITH WEBB

Those original Annual posters are the work of our Circulation Manager, Edith. Always finding the hilarious side of a situation, her social roster is well filled. Her pet theme—there is nothing better than having an older brother.

CHARLES E. WEST

A blond cavalier, Charlie has really given the family car a workout. Hailing from Jersey, more specifically Collingswood, it rates A-1 in his conversation. Risking life and limb on the Norwood fire truck is an old story to this fire-eater.

ROGER C. WILLIAMS

"Brains" on the football field and Hi-Y presidency are the keynotes of "Moe's" personality. A stranger might be fooled by that calm exterior but we who've known him awhile are wise to the "regular" guy underneath. He'll solve your Trig, too.

SHIRLEY RAE WOLFE

This lady has the distinction of being the tallest female in the Senior Class. Shirley doesn't rely on height alone for merit, however. Particularly adept at dancing and skating, she easily steps into her role as Student Council member.

C. STANTON BONSALL

Stan's return to his "Alma Mater" this year came as a very pleasant surprise. Although he arrived too late to try out for the school team, two years' service on the Church Farm School quintet speaks volumes for his basketball ability.

WALTER WEIGAND, JR.

"Wiggie" surprised us all by growing up suddenly to become one of our best gridiron boys. Never let it be said that he gives in without a fight, as his P.O.D. classmates will testify. Personality and a sense of humor keynote his activities.

WILLIAM WILSON

Bill divides his time between the gridiron, basketball floor, baseball diamond, and a blonde in the Junior Class, performing capably in each case. Bill's mighty glad this is his Senior year, 12 years of education are plenty for his money.

RUTH M. WOLFE

Ruthie's laughing eyes and smart appearance have drawn many an admiring glance. Her excellent work as secretary of the Student Council has given her extra training for her future career in the world of adding machines and typewriters.

JOHN WOLFENDEN

Despite a cascade of injuries, this good-looking lad has played a fine game as end for the Indian eleven the past two years. Serenely taking each class in his stride, John is a real devotee of the old maxim, "Silence is golden."

FRANCIS WOODWARD

He isn't the tallest fellow in the class, but there's never a dull moment when one's within hearing range of his humor. Periodic absences mean that old home ties have conquered his spirit, and Gettysburg claims his attention.

Dear Diary,
Under the sponsorship of the Senior P. O. B. classes
we decided that Glen Harwould solve that momentous question of whom we wanted for our next President. Believe it or not, it resulted in a tie.
Roosevelt and Dewey both 326.
The Prohibitionists received one vote, the Socialists, 5, and the Communists stayed

December 4
Dear Diary,
The most interesting and amusing hockey game played this season - or any season at Glen Har - was the fray between the Varsity football and the Varsity hockey teams. Those clever fellows arrived on the battlefield bedecked in football jerseys and hockey tunics. Generous measures of lipstick completed the feminine effect.
The game itself was a series of fusar, shoves, shouts and fumbles, ending in the score of boys 2, girls 0!

Dear Diary,

As chief morale booster for our athletic teams, the band made its colorful appearance as soon as football season started. And who wouldn't want to play harder with a smiling group of pretty majorettes and color guards urging him to victory?

This year, our band has been greatly benefitted by its new director, Mr. Marlin O'Neal, an importation from neighboring Prospect Park. Through his expert guidance and enthusiasm, this organization has improved both in marching and in playing; in fact, sufficiently to win two merits in a competition with thirteen other bands at the University of Pennsylvania.

Not resting on this laurel alone, the band has played at the elementary schools, at P. T. A. meetings, and at Chester and Media high school programs

Dear Diary,

With a nucleus of nine returning lettermen for the 1944 Eleven, Coaches Thompson and Knoll turned out an all-around team which won six out of nine games. Outstanding among the season's performances, dear Diary, were Bill Wilson's three touchdowns against Collingdale; Murray "the Bear" Forbes' rugged line play; and Don Boorse's dependable backfield work.

But win, lose or draw, team-spirit was shown at all time. This was proved when the Indians, losing at halftime, came back to defeat Clifton Heights, and again in the Ridley Township thriller which climaxed the team's successful season.

Dear Diary,

The Glen-Nor lassies rolled through a nearly perfect season with four wins, two ties, and one defeat by Ridley Park. Joan Martin, captain, was the team's high scorer with six goals to her credit. The rest of the forward line also did their part to give the team a total of 17 points for the season.

Always fighting to the finish, the backfield yielded only seven goals to their opponents, giving Glen-Nor a 17-7 ratio to the other teams.

The J.V.s ended their season with four wins, two losses, and one tie. Jean Price was both captain and high scorer for the J. V.s with five goals.

The Staff of Life at Glen-Nor

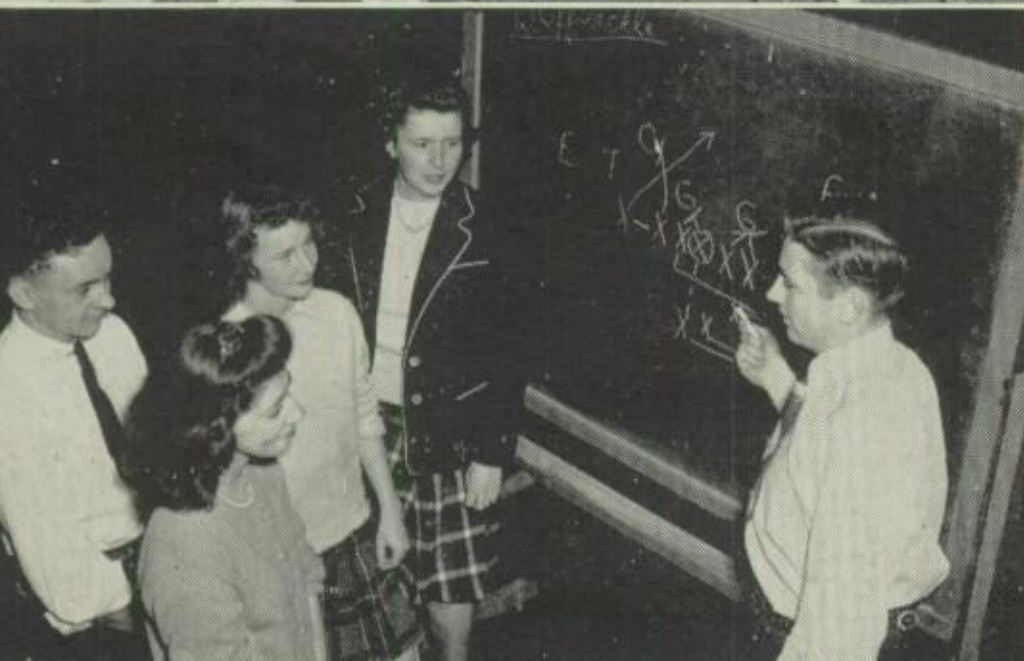

Dear Diary

THE unconquerable spirit of our Annual staff has helped us to overcome the many difficulties encountered in narrating the yearly events in our Glen-Nor Annual. Ever since the day Senior pictures were taken the staff has been working constantly. We soon discovered that such questions as "Whom will we choose as our dedicatee?" and "What will our theme be?" had to be answered very soon.

At the time we may have thought these all the problems to be faced. But before long we found ahead of us a highly complicated problem of page layout. Although constant changes in our planning were necessary to create interesting and variable arrangements, we were always ready to start anew. After pondering for some time over the hockey pictures, a light would seem to flicker, bringing forth an exclamation of "Oh! I've got just the idea!" A sigh of relief would escape all present.

Under the leadership of our faithful instructor, Miss Kelley, assignments were posted and deadlines were met. With the aid of our fiery patron and subscription drives, interest in our 1945 Annual was heightened. In spite of our many curious classmates, the staff's secrets remained within the intimacy of its members. It was our duty to reply to various inquiries, "I'm sorry but I can't tell. It'll spoil the surprise."

Well, Diary, here is our memory book full of surprises. We hope all Glen-Norites will enjoy it.

Dear Diary,

We now have a Senior and a Junior Student Council which operate independently but are supervised by an executive committee composed of the officers of both. This plan was inaugurated last year and proved so successful that we continue to use the system. The service letter committee fulfilled its duties effectively as they planned those missives so coveted by Glen-Nor's service men and women for that extra bit of news from the Alma Mater, as did the monitors in keeping traffic moving smoothly through the halls.

Under its new junior council sponsor, Mrs. Egan, and the senior sponsor, Miss Jones, the groups have settled many homeroom problems after careful consideration and appropriate action. The whole school is looking forward eagerly to the Point System awards at the end of the year.

ONE of the most popular organizations in the school is the Girl Reserves. Built around a four-point program—service, knowledge, health, and recreation—its weekly meetings feature movies, discussions, and victory aids.

Regardless of freezing weather, the club continued functioning throughout the winter months. A third sponsor was added this year, with Mrs. Hess, Miss Kocher, and Miss Keffer presiding every Monday evening.

Highlighting the year's activities were the ingenious scrapbooks, the Christmas menus, and the beautiful Christmas tree in the main corridor. Climaxed annually by the Mother-Daughter Banquet, the organization strives for a 100 per cent attendance at this event.

It is the variety-packed program that encourages many sophomores to enroll eagerly each year.

HERE'S a club that rates ace high with Glen-Nor in general, and with the senior high boys in particular. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Fricker and Mr. Thompson, the club inaugurated its calendar of activities with the October ceremonies of induction and initiation. Membership settled until the midyear elections, the group settled down to those classics of parliamentary procedure, the regular weekly meetings.

Among the many decisions made here were those of fixing the dates of the gym nights. Outstanding in these monthly evenings of relaxation were the two court clashes with the faculty team, resulting, incidentally, in one victory for each.

The boys' trip to Convention Hall for a basketball doubleheader, and the midyear initiation also provided amusing and interesting recreation.

But these are some of the club's lighter moments; the Hi-Y has a serious side, too. Highlighting this phase were, in cooperation with the Girl Reserves, helping supervise and finance the printing of the Glen-Nor Handbook, and attending all the regular sectional rallies.

Yes, for a versatile club the Hi-Y gets our vote.

Dear Diary,

Hear those wailing clarinet notes and the boogie woogie piano rhythm floating through the halls? No, it isn't Benny Goodman nor Frankie Carle making a guest appearance at our school—but Glen-Nor's own Swing Band. As a haven for students who love jive, the Swing Band has quickly gained prominence. Its devotees are usually found lining the auditorium every Wednesday afternoon when it holds practices.

Besides playing at Senior Play intermissions and participating in an assembly program, it was also featured at the December Hi-Y dance which served to heighten still further its popularity. So click up your heels, jitterbugs, and listen to the dance band give out with some solid sending.

"Without a Song

The Day Would Never End"

Mr. O'Neal

THIS morning bright and early as we entered the door, strains of lovely music filled our ears. It was the Girls' Glee Club who had been at school for more than an hour already, practicing diligently. The first fruits of this enthusiasm were evidenced at Christmas time when the group presented a brief but inspiring program for the students and later for the parents. The traditional caroling through the halls the last day before the Christmas vacation proved an effective closing for the program.

The highlight of the year for the club is Music Night, featuring choral numbers, soloists, and novelties. Many hours of practice and much work have been expended to insure the success of this program. From time to time, the students have been entertained in assemblies by members whose outstanding work has enabled them to appear as soloists as well as members of the choral group.

Senior Play

THE high spot of Glen-Nor's theatrical activities is the senior play, presented this year on November tenth. After much advance publicity, "Almost Summer," a comedy based on the trials and tribulations of a high school senior, played to a large and appreciative audience. The solution of such vexing problems as winning a girl, passing history with a 90, and escaping punishment for smashing up the car, provided many hilarious moments.

In throwing well deserved bouquets to the cast we award orchids to Bob McCombie and Ernie Pietsch for outstanding performances.

Under the direction of Mr. O'Neal, Glen-Nor's own dance orchestra played several selections during the intermissions. The unsung heroes backstage and the able direction of Miss Harrison did much to make the play a success.

No less original were the "rig-

Inspiration for Victory

IN RAIN or shine, on grid or court, the cheerleaders are always present, leading the crowd in their cheers.

Under new supervision this year and led by Captain Helen Loux, the girls were rewarded for their efforts by receiving new outfits consisting of white sweaters and culottes.

Many thanks go to Mrs. Goerder for her tireless efforts in working with the girls and much of the credit is due her for the novel ideas put into practice at the pep meetings.

THE unsung heroes and heroines of Glen-Nor's athletic activities comprise the A. A. Council. Behind closed doors they labor over the many problems presented by the teams and their members.

The intricate details of equipment maintenance, team transportation to and from games, printing and selling of tickets as well as ticket campaigns, hiring and paying of officials, and lining of playing fields are all ably taken care of by the Council.

Highlight of the Council's activities is the gala Athletic Banquet which is planned in cooperation with Mr. Otto Sandberger, chairman of the banquet committee, whose keen interest and tireless energy have resulted in numerous benefits for our athletic endeavors.

The presentation of Varsity letters after the banquet is engineered by the council as is the Varsity Dance, following the occasion.

LED by Pete Kramer and Jack MacVeigh, who scored 396 of the team's 639 points, the Indians took 13 out of 17 contests. For the second straight year the Knollmen captured the Section IV crown and showed real possibilities as they entered the P. I. A. A. Class A play-offs.

After losing the first two games by close margins the Indians proceeded to take 9 in a row and then dropped their only league defeat to a revengeful Ridley Township quintet by the narrow gap of 30-28.

The thrilling game of the season was the clash at Eddystone, which went into an extra period and ended with Glen-Nor on top, 37-35.

Although they did not finish near the top of the scoring list, the trio of Bates, Renz and Grubb performed some outstanding floorwork, both offensively and defensively.

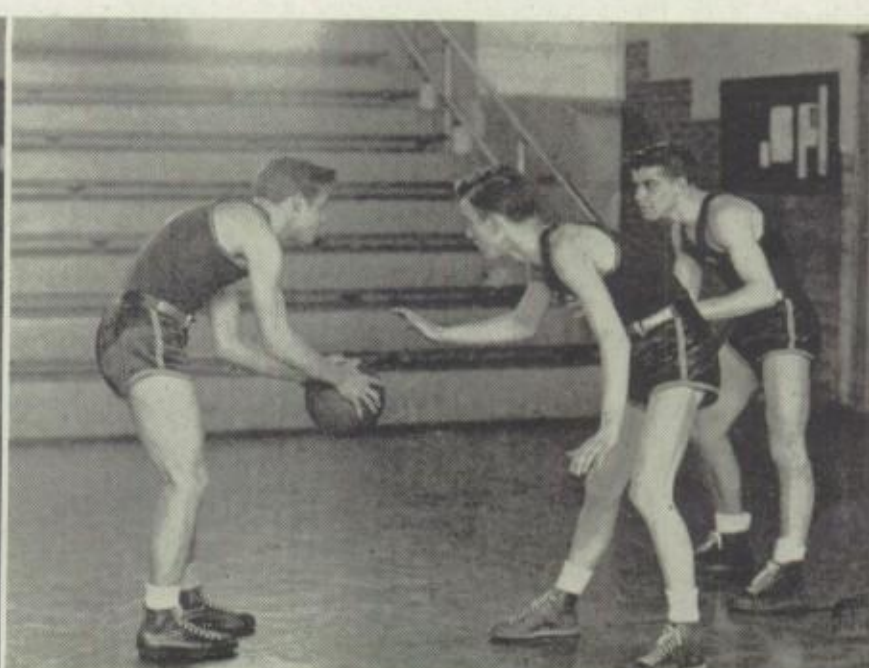

Of distinct credit to the team play was the ability to hold up in the pinches and come through with the laurels of victory.

In the first playoff game at Abington, the Indians routed Doylestown with a score of 44-17, but were nosed out, 44-42, by Radnor.

Dear Diary,

With only two former varsity players back, the girls started their season with disadvantages. However, under the capable supervision of Mrs. Wright, and with hidden talents popping up from last year's veterans, the girls managed to triumph in three out of their eight scheduled games. They also stole the show from Sharon Hill in a pre-season practice game.

With a fast shifting-zone defense, the quick thinking guards, led by Captain Mildred Hebden, managed to stop many an opponent's goal. Martha Kerr, high scorer with 50 points, worked with other forwards to net a total of 128 points.

ACTING as the school's banker, Miss Kocher has a tremendous responsibility resting upon her shoulders. Not only must she balance the books for all the senior high classes, but she must do the same for the Annual, Hi-Y and all other organizations which have a banking account.

Many headaches have developed when the treasurer of an organization has turned in a report that does not coincide with the account kept by Miss Kocher.

Then there's another matter that involves our money — in this way from the month of September to December 7th, two ambulances were purchased and contributed to the government as our part in the war effort. These ambulances bear an inscription stating that we donated them.

“THE men behind the man behind the mike” might be a fitting caption for this bustling group, as the visual education committee not only supervises the use of Glen-Nor’s public address system, but takes care of all assembly programs utilizing the school movie projector, as well.

Under the capable leadership of Clifford Sparks, these industrious students are also the right-hand men of the faculty when it comes to using slides, movies and recordings for class room instruction.

Although Mr. Richards, teacher-founder of this organization 16 years ago, is now a Lieutenant (j.g.) in the Navy, Mr. Schmidt and Mr. Landis have graciously consented to carry on for him as sponsors.

The care and maintenance of $3200 worth of sound and movie equipment is no easy task, but to the Visual Education Committee it’s just all in a day’s work. On Friday nights these fellows enter the limelight by supplying up-to-date records for those students desiring to, “C’mon and dance.”

Mr. Schmidt, C. Sparks.

May 4

Dear Diary,

Our G. for Excellence goes to Mr. O'Neal and his some 400 proteges for their fine presentation of our Spring Musical Festival. Participating in the program were the Band, Majorettes, and Color Guard, our Swing Band, Glee Club, and an orchestra and a chorus from the Norwood and Shiloh Grammar Schools. All this, plus a specially constructed stage and a lush purple beaded backdrop made May 4th a date to remember.

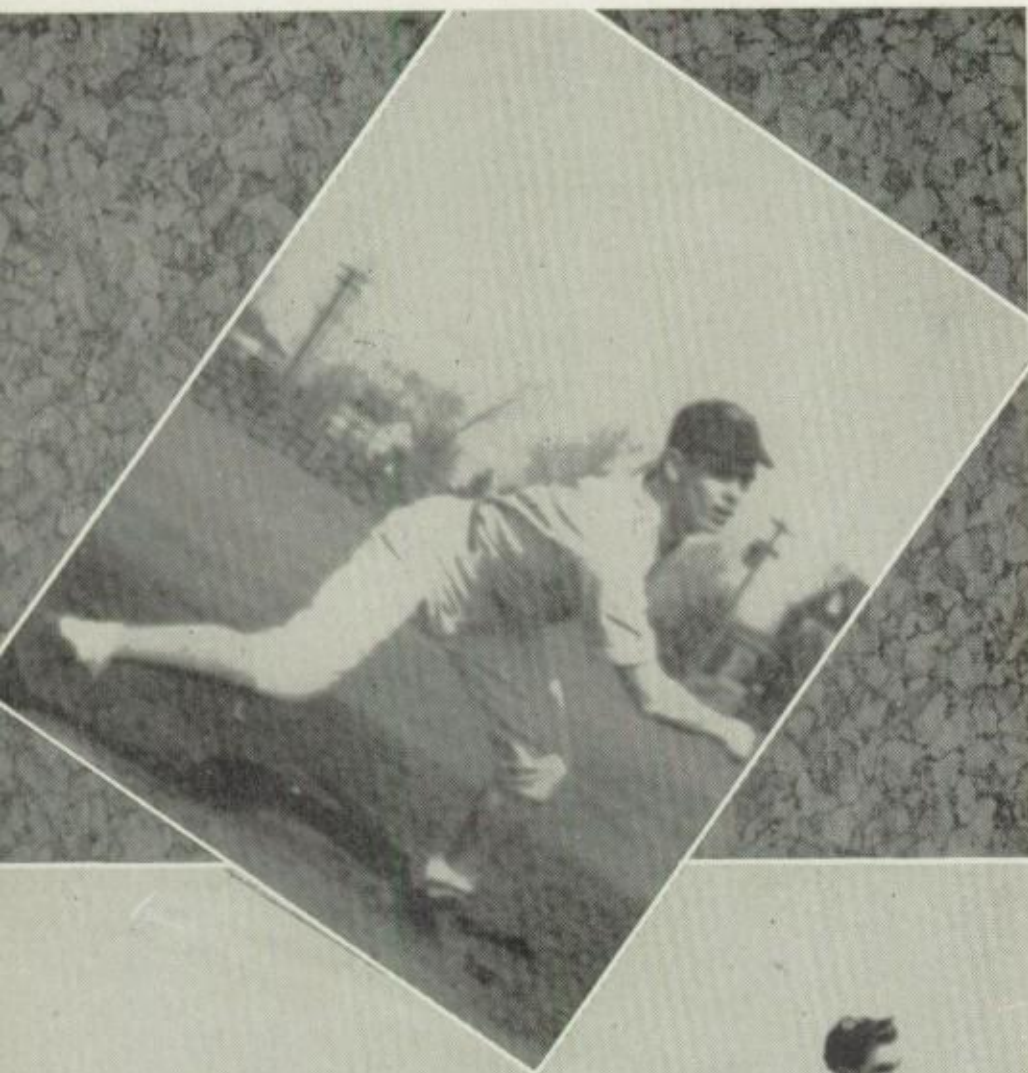

May 11

Dear Diary,

The grand parade set Field Day off to a flying start. Through races, jumping, throwing and other athletic events, the Maroon and Gold battled for the coveted medals of gold, silver, and bronze. The gay maypole, the queen and her court all lent an air of beautiful festivity to a true red letter day.

Coach Harry D. Fricker

ON MARCH 12, Coach Fricker issued the first call for baseball candidates and was rewarded with a fine turnout eager to get started. Lady Luck smiled on the practice sessions this year with warm and clear weather, as compared with last year's persistent cold winds.

With the preliminary limbering-up completed, the work of molding individuals into a team began in earnest. With eight returning lettermen vying with the other boys for one of the coveted uniforms and a place on the team roster, competition was keen at the important positions of second base and catcher. By now the schedule was ready, and tentatively listed 14 games, the first to be played on April 13.

For our second year of competition since baseball returned to Glen-Nor, the team and school are hoping to more than match last season's record of seven wins and seven losses. Dear Diary, our prediction for the game of the year is—Glen-Nor vs. Chester!

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

J. Brock, Miss Hassler, B. Bamforth, M. Hebden, J. Martin, F. Horner.

HERE, dear Diary, we present the group chosen by the faculty as having most nearly attained the ideals enumerated at the top of this page. As only 15% of the senior class and 5% of the junior class are eligible for membership, you see that the organization is a select one, indeed. It is a red-letter day in the lives of these students when, during the society's annual induction ceremony, their names are announced as members.

Until this year, the society has had the large keystone and torch emblem, but never a plaque. This year, the group purchased a bronze one, and this will become one of the Glen-Nor chapter's permanent emblems.

The officers for this year are: President, Brian Bamforth; Vice-President, Jean Brock; and Treasurer, Fay Horner.

QUILL AND SCROLL

P. Green, A. Natale, B. Bamforth, F. Horner, J. Brock, Miss Kelley.

IF, INDEED, "the pen is mightier than the sword," this industrious quintet should be well armed for any battle of manuscripts. As proof that their efforts have been amply rewarded, they have been chosen as representatives of the Glen-Nor chapter in the international honorary society for high school journalists, Quill and Scroll.

To be eligible for this organization, one must be in the upper third of his class scholastically and be recommended by the sponsor for meritorious work, in addition to submitting an original composition as a sample of his ability. These are strict requirements, but this fortunate group has qualified in all respects. Their talented penwork was promptly utilized by the editorial staff in the task of compiling writeups for the Annual.

AS WE reach the last page, dear Diary, we wish to express our deepest gratitude to those who have helped to make our book a success.

To the Hollander and Feldman Studio and to the Campus Publishing Company go our sincere thanks; also to Mr. Harry D. Fricker and Mr. John M. White, Jr., our appreciation for their splendid cooperation with the staff.

A detailed line drawing of a right hand holding a large, thin triangle. The hand is positioned as if presenting the triangle. The triangle is placed over an open book. The book's pages contain handwritten text in cursive script. The drawing uses cross-hatching for shading on the hand and the triangle.
